FRANK LOUIS MELINE

1875 - 1944

Frank Louis Meline was born in Jacksonville, Illinois August 5, 1875, the son of Joseph and Mary (Fortado) Meline. His father, a farmer, was born on the Island of Madeira and came to America in 1845.

Frank L. Meline was educated at Jacksonville public schools and the Springfield, Illinois Business College.

After leaving school, he worked for short periods as a bookkeeper and salesman with local business firms.

In 1902 he moved to Los Angeles, where he was employed as a window dresser by the Hamburger Department Store. He had worked his way to the position of merchandise display manager when he left in 1912 to enter the building business.

During the ensuing years he constructed some of the largest homes in Hollywood,

Beverly Hills, Pasadena and Los Angeles.

He was architect and builder of "Pickfair", the home of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.

Other buildings constructed by him include the Fifth Church of Christ, and the Garden Court apartments in Hollywood.

In 1919 he went into the real estate business, continuing his building activities until 1924. He was the exclusive agent for properties on Lake Arrowhead and in Beverly Hills and during 1919-1921 sold more than fifty percent of the real estate in Beverly Hills.

He was the original developer of California Riviera, Castellamarre and Brentwood Green and one of the original developers of Bel Air, and was engaged in other real estate enterprises, including several recreational beach projects.

He was a Christian Scientist in religion and a Republican in politics.

He was married to Alma Henrietta Wellman of Springfield, Illinois. They had one son, who died in infancy, Frank Wellman Meline.

Frank Louis Meline died in Los Angeles, California August 17, 1944.

PETER FRANCISCO

1760-1831

Many have been the tributes paid to this great American!

Given by Mrs. Eileen Gochanour of Illinois

On the thirty-foot shaft of Calvalry Monument (left) we read: "To Peter Francisco, a giant in stature, might and courage who slew in this engagement (the battle of Guilford Courthouse, NC, March 15, 1781; map next page) eleven of the enemy with his own broad sword, rendering himself thereby perhaps the most famous Private soldier of the Revolutionary War."

The writer has visited the Guilford Courthouse National Military Park in North Carolina. On display there is one of Peter Francisco's shoes. It is very wide but apparently only a size ten. Also on display is the shaving set given to him by General Nathanael Greene (of the Rhode Island Greenes) who was his commanding officer. Major General Greene was born in Rhode Island August 7, 1742 and died in Georgia June 19, 1786.

There was a Schooner built in the early 1800s with the name, Peter Francisco.

Mr. Wood never recovered from the successive losses of the members of his family, despite extended vacations to Cuttyhunk and Ormond Beach, Florida, under constant supervision of his personal physician, Dr. Arthur G. Griffin, who had cared for him since 1906. On February 2, 1926, while on a drive on Flagler Beach, not far from Ormond Beach Hotel, where the Woods had registered, Mr. Wood took his own life when he managed for a fleeting moment to leave the care of his chauffeur, Joseph Beaulieu, and his personal attendant, August Frederickson. Burial services were held at the West Parrish Cemetery, where fifty-six men were employed in clearing the snow from the entrance and lanes to make way for the funeral cortege of William Madison Wood, Sr.

Mr. Wood was president and director of the National and Providence Worsted Mills, Providence, Rhode Island, and the Southern Illinois Coal and Coke Company of Chicago, Illinois, and director of the Merchants National Bank, the Pierce Manufacturing Company, and Pierce Bros, Ltd., New Bedford, the Rhode Island Insurance Company, Providence, and the Washington Mills and Nyanza Mills of Lawrence. He was vice president of the Home Market Club and the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, and a trustee of the Lowell Textile School.

When the history of the woolen industry in America has been written, the name of one man will stand out above all the rest: William M. Wood, President of the American Woolen Company. The imprint of his genius for organization and management will be indelibly stamped upon every page of the story of the progress of this industry, from its disorganized, chaotic condition during the later part of the nineteenth century to the well-ordered efficient industry it became.

Had it not been for the sailing of the mariner, William Jason Wood from his native land of Pico, Azores, the textile industry might not have had the contribution made by the industrial genius, son of the Azorean, William Jason Wood.

By Mrs. Pat Amaral of Florida With permission About a year ago, the following news item appeared in the papers. "Even though the original M/V Alert no longer travels between New Bedford and Cuttyhunk Island, it has not been forgotten.

Today you can find it moored off Billy Wood's Wharf, behind Smuggler's Den restaurant, 1494 E. Rodney French Boulevard, New Bedford."

They are planning to restore the ferry and turn it into a harbor tour vessel.

"In 1917 William M. Wood commissioned the C. A. Anderson Boat Yard in Wareham to build the Alert. For 70 years it served as a lifeline between New Bedford and Cuttyhunk, carring passengers, cargo and mail like its successor, the M/V Alert II."

This is a romantic legend of a young lad from Faial who crossed the seas in the arduous search for whales.

"There is nothing more beautiful in the sight of God and men than the merit of sincere humility, great humility is of great value, a value without presumption, humility without fear. The bravest is he who controls his spirit and he who conquers cities. Patience is a firm protection that can safely absorb the hard blows of adversity."

Andrade wrote these words in a book of instruction, "Manual Encyclopedico" by Aquiles Monteverde, Imprensa National, Lisbon, 1850.

The diary by Manuel Silveira de Andrade was found recently. See

States of California", in which in summary he says

"At the age of 18, I left Flores (August, 1850) in the whaling ship "Pacific", with Captain Jacob A. Hammond, New Bedford, 396 tons. I called at Faial (12 August) but did not disembark. The voyage continued and (23 October) we reached Tierra del Fuego and rounded Cape Horm."

"First whale sighted (13 November)."

"On 31 March, 1860 we arrived at Maui. Two years and two months are quite a long time. Then we arrived in California."

He wrote in his log book copies of the same available, through the offer made by Carlos Almeida.

Meet the Author

We have here in the Portuguese Room of this Library a bust of Camoes and that should be an inspiration to all Portuguese - and the world, if people knew about him, and many don't. I classify poets two ways - reknown and unknown and I don't classify myself with the reknowned. Quoting my sons, "your poetry is nice, primitive, predictable with nothing difficult to understand and no hidden meaning, mostly narrative style and nothing to look up".

She received roses from a dear friend, John Ferreira, from Tiverton, RI who had visited her and family in Washington. She introduced him to

We all enjoyed her readings thoroughly. We hope she'll return to see us again soon.

Congratulations

Our congratulations to the folks in California in beginning their San Jose Historical Museum. It has been in the planning stage since 1989 and has progressed to the ribbon cutting at the site where it will be built.

The folks on the East Coast, beginning with United States Senator Clairborne Pell's father, a former ambassador to Fortugal, have discussed for many years such a project here also. Finally, it seems that a group in Bristol, Rhode Island, who have received grants to renovate the former Kaiser property, are planning a Portuguese museum section there.

Seeing that our ethnic group has been here since Colonial Times, a museum is long overdue. Let us hope that all these dreams will soon come to fruition.

IMMIGRATION RECORDS, PASSENGER LISTS AND NATURALIZATION
A talk given by
Mr. James K. Owens

Director of the National Archives - New England Region, Waltham, Mass.

June 3, 1990 White's Restaurant Westport, Massachusetts

There are two kinds of naturalization documents. There is a declaration of intention which was often referred to as the 'first papers' whereby a person would go to the court and declare it was their intention to become a citizen of the United States and renounce allegiance to whatever country they came from. It's a legal document and the court keeps it on file. They can do that after they have been in this country for three years. Then they had to wait two years to go back to the court (any court) and petition for citizenship and that petition, if it were approved, would be signed by the clerk and they would sign it, stating that they had taken an oath of allegiance to the United States and that becomes a record of naturalization. It is the petition and record of naturalization. It actually states where they are petitioning for citizenship and if that was approved, it was signed by the clerk and it would have been signed by two witnesses and it would become the record of naturalization.

People write to us for a certificate of naturalization. Well, that was a document that was given to a person who was naturalized as proof that they had become citizens and that usually has much less information than the petition and record. But that is good to have because you will know what court a person was naturalized in and when it took place.

Keep in mind that some people did not have to make a declaration of intention (first paper). If a person served in the military service like those men who served in the Civil War in the Union Army, they were not required to make a declaration of intention.

If a person came into this country as a child (minor), after they had been in this country five years and reached the age of twenty-one, they could petition for citizenship without making a declaration of intention.

GENEALOGY of ANTHONY SIZER FAMILY Collected and Recorded by William Sizer, his Son

Anthony Sizer was undoubtably of French parents although born in another kingdom. Anthony Sizer was born on an island in the kingdom of Portugal called Tirceira (Tercura, one of the Azores), north latitude 38 deg. 55 minutes and west longitude from London 26 deg. 44 minutes.

Being by profession a seaman he had a desire to see with America, he shipped on board a vessel commanded by one Hanshaw (Henshaw) bound to Boston. He arrived in Boston about the first of May 1726. He was then nineteen years of age, from hence he sailed into Connecticut River to Middletown. He soon became acquainted with my mother, Sarah Tryon, the daughter of Abet (Abel) Tryon, a respectable and wealthy farmer living in Middletown one mile south of the town flat (plat), on the main street called the South Farms Hill. He lived to a very advanced age. His original name was Antonio DeSosieur or De Zocieur (Zosieur).

On his arrival in this country he could not speak but broken English. Whether his name was altered before or after his marriage, I cannot say.

As I observed he soon became acquainted with my mother, and married her on the 10th of May 1727 in about one year after his arrival in New England. The reason he altered his name was this, several people advised him to anglicize his name and go by it. My father seeing no inconvience in altering his name and willing to gratify his acquaintance to Deacon William Rockwell then town clerk in Middletown and left it with the town clerk to anglicize his name and made a record of it calling it Sizer instead of De Sozieur.

My father was a man about five feet, ten inches high, very stout built, very fair complexion, black curled hair and black eyes, naturally mild in his temper and very sociable. But when insulted and provoked of great spirit and resolution. He embraced the religion of the land in which he lived, of good government in his family, of exemplary life and conversation, and true to his trust. This character of him I have had given me by those that were acquainted with him and near his age.

Taken from the records of Middletown, Connecticut. Anthony DeSosieur was born about the year 1707, married Sarah Tryon May 10, 1727. Their children:

(1) Mary b. March 3, 1728;

(2) Jabez b. Sept. 27, 1729 d. 1752;

- (3) Anthony b. Apr. 10, 1731 d. July 5, 1731;
- (4) Abel b. May 5, 1732 d. Mar. 21, 1814;
- (5) Daniel b. May 30, 1734 d. Nov. 4, 1760;
- (6) Lemuel b. Jan. 27, 1736 d. 1820;
- (7) Sarah b. Dec. 21, 1738 d. Jan. 15, 1823;
- (8) Anthony, Jr. b. Dec. 18, 1740 d. 1764;
- (9) Jemima b. Mar. 20, 1743 d. 1818;
- (10) Samuel b. Nov. 30, 1744 d. Sept. 28, 1828;
- (11) William b. Nov. 12, 1746 d. Dec. 1, 1826;
- (12) One son born and died in infancy.

In the birth it is set down in old style, and to make it correspond to the present time 15 (sic) days must be added. (The difference between the Julian and Gregorian calendars in England and her colonies is eleven days. - R. A. Ferry)

Anthony Sizer died September 21, 1753 age 46. He was married when about twenty years of age. He took a very great liking to the country. After he was married he sailed several voyages to sea but after a number of years he had a fit of sickness that finally fell into his knee and became a very bad fever sore. The doctors would have taken his leg off but fortitude was such he said he would lose his leg only with his life. He finally recovered but ever after his knee was stiff, this disabled him from following the seas.

He then became a farmer, and cultivated the earth, and although lame was able to do all kinds of farming work equal to the stoutest man. He occasionally rigged a vessel fit for the seas when other business would admit. By his industry and economy he obtained a small estate. He never visited his native country. He saw it when on a voyage but hearing that his father and greater part of the family were dead, did not feel a disposition to make a voyage to visit his native country thinking it would be more to his affliction than his satisfaction. To me his determination seems strange. I have been informed by a person since my father's death that he had often been in my grandfather's house in Tisciria (Terceria), had drank wine in it and that my grandfather was possessed of a very large property. My mother Sarah Sizer, after living several years a widow married Mr. John Clarke of Middletown Upper Houses. She died March 13, 1771 (1774) age, about 68.

William Sizer, born November 12, 1746 married Abigail Willcox, daughter of Francis Willcox, born December 6, 1749, Middletown. Issue:

- (1) Lucy b. June 15, 1769;
- (2) William, Jr. b. Sept. 6, 1770;
- (3) Rachel b. March 12, 1772;
- (4) Fletcher b. Oc. 1, 1773;
- (5) John b. Apr. 16, 1775;
- (6) son b. Nov. 28, 1776 d. Feb. 22, 1777 intended to be Silas;
- (7) Abigail b. June 27, 1778;
- (8) Sarah b. May 9, 1780;
- (9 and 10) Francis and Titus b. Mar. 22, 1782;
- (11) one daughter b. Sept. 1, 1783;
- (12) Clarissa b. Oct. 4, 1784;
- (13) Horace b. July 6, 1786;
- (14) Almeria b. Jan. 21, 1789;
- (15) Hiram b. July 17, 1791;
- (16) Virgil b. Oct. 24, 1795.

"PARISH HISTORIES PROVE GOLD MINE FOR RESEARCHERS"

This was the heading for an article which appeared in the July 23rd Issue of "The Anchor," the newspaper published by the Diocese of Fall River, Massachusetts.

At the three-day annual meeting of the A-merican Catholic Historical Association in Washington, three women presented their studies at the workshop. Each presented very different parish histories.

Also during this 73rd annual meeting, it was announced that David J. O'Brien of Moly Cross College, Worcester, MA had received the Association's most prestigious annual award. It is given for the most significant contribution to Catholic historiography by a United States or Canadian author published in book form during the year.

🗱 In Memoriam 👺

A donation in memory of Mr. AIRES LOURO was made to our Library Fund by Mrs. Marya Myers of California.

Mr. Louro recently passed away in Fall River, Massachusetts. His widow Rose resides with their daughter Mrs. Antone Felix, 435 Jackson Street in Fall River.

Thank you, Mrs. Myers, for your generous memorial.

We were sorry to learn that Mr. E. Philip Sanford, Jr. of Florida passed away earlier in the year.

Mr. Sanford was the widower of Mrs. Doris M. Burmeister Sanford.

Mrs. Sanford was very active in researching the group of Portuguese people who fled Madeira to Trinidad then to the Springfield and Jackson-ville areas in Illinois during the mid 1800's.

Beginning with our Winter, 1988 cover story in our "Bulletin Board," Mrs. Sanford relates the story of her second great-grandfather Henrique Vieira, 1824-1909, "Builder of the First Portuguese Presbyterian Church in Trinidad"-St. Ann's Church of Scotland.

She also submitted for our readers many Passenger Lists covering the migration from Trinidad and Madeira beginning in our Spring, 1989 Issue.

Mr. Sanford had continued the interest in these folks seeing to it that much of her works were sent to a research area in Illinois.

Retired Vice Consul Carlos Maria da Luz Numes of Boston passed away June 19, 1993.

Mr. Nunes was born August 13, 1895 in Macau, son of a Merchant Marine Captain from the schools of Lisbon and London and grandson of the General of the Army in Macau and former Governor of Timor, Gen. Francisco de Paule da Luz.

He became Vice Consul of the Portuguese government in Manila, the Philippines in 1940, later promoted to Consul. Many kindnesses were extended to our American servicemen who passed through Manila during World War II.

He was there in Manila when the Portuguese embassy was established, in 1961.

Mr. Nunes transferred to Boston, Massachusetts in May, 1969, as Vice Consul, retiring in 1980.

Many were the organizations that presented him with awards during his residence in this country. He was a well respected gentleman and admired by all those from the New England area who knew him.

He leaves his widow Pureza, a daughter Maria Fatima da Eca Nunes Johnson, the first woman descended from the people of Macau to earn a doctorate's degree, two other daughters and a son Anthony. His widow and son still live in the Boston area.

Queries

Seek living descendants or other information about my great-grand-parents: (1) Francis D. NUNES (b. 1841, Madeira; d. 1913 Rochester, IL), son of Francisco and Clara (VASCONCELLOS) NUNES DE VIVEROS and (2) Virginia VINCENT (b. 1855 Madeira, d. 1903 Springfield, IL), daughter of Joseph Vincent and Alexandria (VIEIRA) ROMAO.

Letters

I was so happy to get the back issues of the "Bulletin Board", and to find in the first issue that I looked at (Spring, 1992) someone who shares the same great-grandfather, ANTONIO JOAQUIN MONIZ:

I called Mrs. Carol Haskell in Florida and we have since written, sharing our information.

Our grandfathers were half-brothers!!

Mrs. Carol Barron-Karajohn of Massachusetts

This year's best short film of Semaine Internationale de la Critique Francaise (French Critic's Week) was awarded to Bruno de Almeida of New York. His film, "The Debt" is a comedy based on a black couple's overwhelming credit crisis. This was at the International Film Festival held at Cannes, France.

He has also directed "Um Rei no Exilio" and the video, "Amalia Rodrigues, Live in New York City."

He has lived in New York since 1985.

Pending the receipt of our COMPUTER, the Fall Issue of our Bulletin Board is going out in September instead of the usual Surname Roster date. When the latter is completed, it will then replace a mailing of one of our regular issues of our newsletter.

MAJOR IMMIGRATION RESEARCH CENTERS

Besides the Family History Library, notable research centers for immigration studies include:

National Immigration Archives c/o Balch Institute 18 South 7th Street Philadelphia, PA 19106

An important indexing project for immigration studies is sponsored by Temple University and housed at the Balch Institute for Ethnic Studies. These records document arrivals in the major ports. The public may use the information only after it has been published.

National Archives and Records Administration 8th St. and Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.

Washington, DC 20408

The 1985 guide to genealogical records in the National Archives describes the many available passenger records.

Immigration History Research Center c/o University of Minnesota

826 Berry Street St. Paul, MN 55114

The collections of the IHRC serve to provide source materials for the study of American ethnic groups originating from Eastern and Southern Europe and the Middle East. The collections include periodicals and ethnic newspapers, documents from fraternal societies, and personal diaries and papers.

New York Fublic Library Fifth Avenue and 42nd Street New York, NY 10018

The New York Fublic Library is a system of libraries with virtually every kind of library collection. The Science and Technology Research Center, for one, can provide the sources of illustrations of harbors, ships, and ships' captains through its Ships Index Card File. The Manuscripts and Archives Divison houses ships' logs and journals, official naval documents, and immigrants' guides.

New York Historical Society Manuscript Department 170 Central Park West New York, NY 10024

The New York Historical Society has been collecting and preserving manuscripts since 1804. The following types of records may be found there: account books from merchants and customs houses, travel diaries, ships' log books, business papers from Castle Garden, oaths of entry. There is also a special naval history section.

Steamship Historical Society Collection c/o University of Baltimore Library 1420 Maryland Avenue Baltimore, MD 21201 If you have the name of a specific ship and the date it sailed, you may receive a photograph and other information. The SHSC has over 50,000 pictures, photographs, and negatives of vessels and shipping. The collection also includes logbooks, promotional materials and business records produced by steamship lines. FRIENDS

Friends are our richest treasures, Which we gather along life's way. Choose them wisely, treat them kindly,

With love, understanding and compassion each day.

They listen to our every woe, And graciously cater to our needs, Without their love and affection, We are as empty as dried-up seeds.

Friends help us along this journey through life, Toward heaven, with mutual loving care. Guided by our Lord Who truly loves us, Thus, with friends His love we share.

So, don't forget to thank God, Every blessed day, For the very dear friends He sends us, Along life's challenging Way.

by Laura Nobrega (Sr. Laura Maria T.O.P. Dominican Laity)

IF YOU WANT TO FIND OUT WHICH DAY YOU WERE BORN:

- 1. Take the last two figures of the year concerned.
- 2. Add 1/4 of this number, ignoring any remainder.
- 3. Add the day of the month.
- 4. Add the following number, according to the month:

 Jan.-1 (or in a leap year, 0)
 May -2
 Sep.-6

 Feb.-4 (or in a leap year, 3)
 June-5
 Oct.-1

 Mar.-4
 July-0
 Nov.-4

 Apr.-0
 Aug.-3
 Dec.-6

- 5. Add for 1700s 4; 1800s 2; 1900s 0; 2000s 6.
- 6. Divide the total by 7.

64

7. The remainder gives the day of the week- 1 for Sunday; 2 for Monday; 3 for Tuesday; 4 for Wednesday; 5 for Thursday; 6 for Friday; 0 for Saturday.

For example, a person was born on April 21, 1926. To find the day, add 26, 6, 0, 0. Answer = 53. Divide by 7. Answer = 7, remainder of 4. So this person was born on Wednesday.

The following was a popular naming pattern in early times:

1st son- named after the father's father,

2nd son- named after the mother's father,

3rd son- named after father,

4th son- named after the father's oldest brother.

1st daughter- named after mother's mother,

2nd daughter- named after father's mother,

3rd daughter- named after mother,

4th daughter- named after mother's oldest sister.
